Summary

It's time to bring SMBOs into their home, MonkeDAO

Proposal Details

Under the SMB IP, 42 SMBOs were created to replace 42 lost/hacked Gen2 monkes. While their creation was controversial, it was an official act by the rightful owner of the SMB IP at the time, and they are formally acknowledged today in MonkeDAO with the "Ordinals Holder" role. Original owners of those lost Gen2 monkes received all proceeds from the sale of the SMBOs, and have expressed gratitude.

Currently, SMBOs only have access to the Ordinals Holder trait chat. This small group of holders includes many well-known existing Gen2 monkes such as @Nom, @F Inn, @jam, @craigory, @Ravi, and others. It also includes monkes that have specialized in the Ordinals ecosystem that don't otherwise have chat access in MonkeDAO.

This proposal would grant SMBO holders chat access to all chats that a Gen2 member would have access to by default. It would NOT grant them Upper Treehouse voting power, as that would be a technical challenge to do on-chain. But it WOULD grant SMBOs Lower Tree House voting rights, along with all other Gen2s and Gen3s, as those votes are cast via Discord. It would also allow SMBOs to participate in WL giveaways, merch, events, and other perks that are given to Gen2s that are Discord role based.

Goals / Evaluation Metrics

- To expand the MonkeDAO family
- Upon completion MonkeDAO will be cross-chain

Benefits to DAO & Individual Members

- Exposure to the Ordinals ecosystem and alpha opportunities for all monkes (for example, SMBOs were early and did well with Node Monkes)
- Expanding our monke membership and adding their participation in governance and discussions

Risks & Concerns

- SMBOs are not directly under the same brand as MonkeDAO causing brand confusion
- The addition of the monke may be interpreted as an association with the previous IP owner(s)

Tentative Timeline/Roadmap

- To be implemented as soon as it is passed

Treasury Spending & Impact

No treasury spending will be needed
